AC DUCT ROBOTIC CLEANING

- Full Disinfection For Mould

There is a growing concern over the quality of air we breathe and for most of us that means a long period of time breathing air supplied to us through Air Conditioning Systems.

Here in the Middle East, most contractors do not do a pre commissioning cleaning for the buildings, which is one of the reasons for the buildup of construction dust and debris in the HVAC ducting.

Over a period of time additional contaminants like hair, animal dander, fibers from clothing and carpets, pollen, tobacco residues and many more accumulate inside the ducts and on the cooling coils, resulting in the growth of bio film and bacteria, that is well documented as a major cause of respiratory illness and triggering asthma attacks.

We at TETRA GULF, clean the complete air duct system to the American standard ACR 2006. This standard is produced by NADCA (National Air Duct Cleaners Association) and is used worldwide to ensure systems are professionally cleaned.
